

Scholarship Trial Test – Year 8 Written Expression

Name	Pranav	Date	30/9/27	Test No	43
------	--------	------	---------	---------	----

Audience	Text Structure	Information	Development of Argument	Vocabulary	Cohesion	Paragraphing	Sentence structure	Punctuation	Spelling	Total Mark
0-6	0-4	0-5	0-4	0-5	0-4	0-2	0-6	0-5	0-6	47

Write from here

Comment line

and repeated sound clunky and bizarre gustling of wind.
He decided he should ~~take~~ go outside and enjoy the view then ^{return} go back to his slumber. He then trudged his way towards the balcony, of which the view was spectacular, but then a white ~~cloth~~ ^{cloth} emerged ⁱⁿ front of him, the king. The king was startled by such a perplexing display, having no means of explaining what happened.

The ~~cloth~~ ^{cloth} started ~~speaking~~ ^{speaking} meaning and the king ran, dropping all the ~~matter~~ that was for design. The ~~cloth~~ ^{cloth} chased him until the king, after passing all the guards, who then followed him after ④ nranav

split this sentence

Seeing the cloth, "What do you want pale beast?" The king shouted, "You took away my home, the only home I had and it resided here until your men demolished it by ~~breaking~~ ^{dissecting} ~~it up~~ it a part, piece from ~~piece~~ piece and there was no compensation for the act, moaned the ghost. "~~But~~ I have a proposal. I shall build a house ~~of~~ of gold and the size of a normal cottage, in return, please do not haunt us," the king said, more calmly.

The next day, they started making gold bricks and stacked them up, holding the gold in place with tree sap. The ghost was impressed and flew towards, then inside the gold house of his.

~~As the king watched the ghost leave~~

↓ The king smiled, then waved.

← new speaker
should be new life

→ sentence
is too long

Such a good buildup, need a more satisfying ending. This is a bit anticlimactic

(Attach another line paper if necessary)

Page 2 of 2

- Very creative and interesting piece ..
- Some grammar and direct speech issues
- Good vocabulary, make sure your inclusion feel purposeful and don't break flow
- Sentences are occasionally too long / complex.